

Privacy Policy

NW Senior Resources respects your privacy. We vow to only share the information necessary to find appropriate housing and care for you or your loved one. Your personal information will never be sold for any reason. During our client intake process, we will ask about health and care needs, geographic preferences, psycho-social preferences and financial ability. At no time will we ask for any banking, investment statements or account numbers. Each individual's situation and care needs are unique, we collect only the necessary information required to make our best recommendations.
